POPULIST COLONIES

Formed in Certain Close Eastern Kansas Counties.

BREIDENTHAL A DEEP SCHEMER.

According to the Latest Story He is Simply a Wonder in the Political World—May be the Story is a Fake.

Chairman Breidenthal of the Populist state central committee, neither confirms nor denies the truth of an interesting story told by the Topeka correspondent of the St. Louis Republic as to how the Populist chairman has figured the Republicans out of several members of the legislature this year.

Chairman Breidenthal has according to this story, been for several months working an original scheme to pull the legislature through and also save his state ticket, if possible.

When it was known that a complete failure of crops in western Kansas was inevitable, Chairman Breidenthal, as early as July last, commenced laying his plans to mold the Populist voters who would be compelled to leave that country. He recognized the fact that two-thirds of the voters who would have to leave were members of his party—renters and poor men, who naturally absorb the Populist ideas. He did not wait till the streams of emigrant wagons began to line the highways.

He commenced business early and turned his committee into a bureau of information and an employment agency. His plan was to hold the Populist voters in the state until after election, although he was willing that all the Republicans who wanted to go back to their wife's people might leave into Missouri or Arkansas.

Chairman Breidenthal addressed a letter to the chairman of the Populist central committee in each of the drought stricken counties, asking for the name of every Populist who would be likely to have to leave the state.

At the same time he prepared a letter which was sent to the Populist chairman of each committee in the counties of eastern Kansas, acquainting them with the situation of their western brothers. To these committeesmen he appealed for names of well-to-do Populist farmers who had land for rent, stock to feed, corn to gather, or work of any character that the unfortunate farmers of western Kansas could do.

Letters soon began pouring into Breidenthal's office from both directions and the lost no well-to-do Populist farmers came with their starving brothers out west, and the result was that when the Populist farmers were compelled to move out of western Kansas in August and September they had a place to go and most of them were soon settled in some eastern county where their votes will help out on election day in one of the several close legislative districts.

This colonization of western Kansas Populists in the eastern counties is likely, it is said, to turn several heretofore Republican legislative districts into the populist column.

The Republic correspondent in explaining the colonization scheme, says: "For example, in Anderson alone 225 western Kansas Populists have been colonized. They are living on farms or in the towns and villages, and are generally employed by the Populist farmers of the county. Two years ago the Republican member of the legislature was elected in Anderson county by 26 plurality. The western Kansas Populists who are colonized there will insure the election of a Populist member."

"Linn county, on the Missouri border, elected a Republican by one majority in 1892. Ninety western Kansas 'exodusters' are temporarily camping in that county till election day, when they will proceed to the Ozark region of southern Missouri."

"Then, in Allen county, a colony of 180 voters from the dry lands are waiting to vote the Populist ticket before they pull out for Arkansas. Two years ago that county sent a Republican to the legislature by only 121 majority."

"In one district in Bourbon county the Republicans had a majority at the last election of 79. Today Breidenthal is confident of success there, because he has colonized 140 voters from the drought district."

"Washington county elected a Republican by 95 majority in 1892. About 80 wandering Populists from the arid belt are sojourning there until the 7th of November, when they will move on to the Ozarks."

"Jefferson is another county the Republicans carried for the legislature two years ago. It is stated that 350 voters have been colonized there—enough to elect two Populists members to the legislature."

"The same work has been done in Coffey, Neosho, Nemaha, Pottawatomie, Wabaunsee, Morris and Marshall counties."

Two years ago when the Republican state central committee spent the entire campaign in making a poll of the state, Chairman Breidenthal "foiled" his opponents by instructing his workers to have six or eight Populists in each precinct pretend to have gone back to the Republicans. This boomed the Republican poll and made the Republican managers happy up to election day while Breidenthal all the time figured the pretended Republicans off of the poll of the Republican state central committee and felt sure of a plurality of about five thousand.

Chairman Breidenthal has adopted much the same measures this year, and under his instructions all of these colonized Populists report themselves as Republicans to the Republican poll takers, and it is this fact which makes the Republican managers feel so sure of carrying so many of the close legislative districts in eastern Kansas. The results on election day will show the effect of Chairman Breidenthal's work.

Political Notes.
J. R. Burton and John W. Breidenthal have bet a $50 suit of clothes on the result of the election.

Secretary Bristow, of the Republican state central committee, says he has had a bad headache for three days.

Secretary Bob Semple of the Populist state central committee, says he proposes to wear his straw hat until after election.

Chairman Leland, of the Republican state central committee, says he never was startled in his life, but the campaign is not over yet.

Chairman Charles Elliott of the Republican county central committee, carries a torch in the street parades like an ordinary voter.

George W. Smith, S. J. Young and R. V. Ridley will address a meeting of colored Republicans at the corner of State street and Seward avenue tomorrow evening.

Ed S. Waterbury, the well known Lyon county Populist, has announced that he will not support S. M. Scott for congress. Waterbury wrote the official Populist history of the legislative war.

At a meeting Monday night, held in the Fifth ward, by the colored Republicans, a Curtis and Gardener flambeau club was organized with a membership of sixty. The club will meet again next Friday night.

Chairman Breidenthal has a lot of fun talking about the list of "Republican speakers" published in the Capital, which is kept standing, and includes the meetings arranged for David Overmyer and Sidney G. Cooke.

Peter Gish and George H. Evans have agreed that if the Republicans carry the election Gish will walk in front of the ratification procession blowing a tin horn, and if the Populists win Evans is to lead the parade.

S. S. Kirkpatrick, the Republican candidate for congress in the Third district, and W. F. Sapp, the Democratic candidate for the same office, will hold a series of twelve joint meetings. The first one was held last night at Howard.

There are fully a dozen people in Topeka who deserve the title "literary."

A CIVIC FEDERATION.

Hundreds of Names Signed to the Petitions.

AN ETERNAL DIVORCE DECREED

Between National and State Politics and Municipal Affairs—The Outlook Promising.

The Civic Federation or Municipal league has not been organized, though hundreds of names have been signed to the call for a mass meeting to effect an organization in Topeka. The date of the meeting has not yet been fixed.

Organizations similar to that which will be organized in Topeka have been organized in many cities and the purposes and manner of conducting an organization are outlined in the constitution and bylaws of the organization in Philadelphia.

The declaration of principles is as follows, except that "Topeka" is substituted where "Philadelphia" appears:

"We, the members of the Municipal league of Topeka, inviting the co-operation of all our fellow citizens, hereby declare, and pledge ourselves to the enforcement of the following principles: "First—We believe that the highest principles of municipal self government in the United States will be materially promoted by the absolute separation of municipal politics from national and state politics."

"Two—The material prosperity of all citizens residing or having business interests in the city of Topeka depends, in great measure, upon the honest and efficient conduct of its government by enlightened methods and upon business principles. Topeka should have the most improved system of taxes, of street paving, of lighting, of water, of drainage, of schools, of transit and all other public necessities and conveniences. To secure these results will be the incessant aim of the Municipal league of Topeka."

"Three—We pledge ourselves to nominate or endorse only such candidates as we believe to be honest and capable and in sympathy with the principle of absolute separation of municipal from state and national politics."

"Four—We believe in the practical extension of the highest principles of civil service reform to all municipal departments and demand a rigorous observance of all laws and regulations concerning appointments to and removals from the municipal civil service."

"Five—It will be the special object of the Municipal league of Topeka to make a thorough and scientific investigation of the correct principles of local self government, especially as adapted to this municipality, and to collect and publish all appropriate information on the defects and needs of our city government. While the members of the league may be members of widely different national or state organizations, all will be united in the common purpose of obtaining the best city government for the wisest expenditure of money, of advancing the material growth of the municipality, and of stimulating that spirit of progress in her citizens which will secure for them and their descendants the largest measure of domestic comfort and of commercial prosperity."

The methods as set forth in the by-laws are as follows: 1. Educational—By demonstrating to the public the advantages to be derived from the absolute separation of national and state politics from municipal politics; and by the publication of a series of tracts on municipal affairs.

Second—Practical. By nominating candidates, when necessary who are pledged to carry out the declaration of principles of the league.

The by laws provide that any one who subscribes to the declaration of principles may become a member. The management is entrusted to the customary officers and a board of managers composed of one delegate from each ward and a specified number at large.

Public officers are not denied membership and the only provision is the following: "No person shall accept or hold a nomination, election or appointment to any municipal or public office to which a salary is attached and at the same time be an officer or manager of the league."

COL. HOLLIDAY HOPEFUL.

Thinks the Santa Fe Will Soon Be On Its Feet Again.

Col. Cyrus K. Holliday is much improved in health, his eastern trip having done him much good. He is still troubled with some weakness of his eye sight, but is otherwise enjoying good health.

"I do not believe there will be any trouble at the meeting of the Santa Fe directors here on the 25th," said he to a Journal reporter. "I am now satisfied that everything will be amicably adjusted, though I do not pretend to say which committee will be victorious. I do not have much faith in these committees. I call them wrecking committees, but I am satisfied that things will work out for the best and the Santa Fe will soon be on its feet once more."

MR. DENNIS' SUCCESSOR.

General J. C. Caldwell First Spoken Of as Librarian.

The old politicians have decided that the successor to State Librarian H. J. Dennis must be an old soldier and the old soldier who has the heaviest pull seems to be General J. C. Caldwell, who under the last Republican administration was a member of the state board of pardons.

General Caldwell is now making Republican speeches over the state and if he can be given this position, he will be satisfied.

Lawyer Charles Foster has been mentioned as a successor to Mr. Dennis. He has, however, no political pull and his chance for appointment is not great. It is expected that several other candidates will show themselves before the close of the week.

WILL CAMPBELL'S SKETCH.

It Appears in This Month's Copy of Leslie.

W. C. Campbell has a short sketch in the current number of Leslie's. It is entitled "Pike's Peak by Moonlight," and as the title implies, describes the beauties of that famous mountain, and the effect of the moonlight upon its grandeur. It includes a short poem by Mr. Campbell which will surprise his friends who do not know him as a poet.

The first and last stanza of the poem are:

The sun is sinking to his rest,
The fleecy clouds fantastic play
Upon the mountain's shining crest,
As it most loth to part with day.

How like life's close this sunset rare,
We feel the shades of night come on,
And through the gloom of dark despair
Await the golden dawn again.

THE OLD CROWD TO STAY.

They Have 600,000 Santa Fe Shares Out of a Million.

A Boston dispatch announces that the Atchison Protective Reorganization committee is sure to get left in the election of a new board of directors at the annual meeting in Topeka one week from tomorrow. This dispatch says: "The new Atchison board will be re-elected at Topeka by about 600,000 shares out of a possible total of 1,000,000. The so-called Protective committee, it is now believed, will cast less than 200,000 votes."

WANTS HIS TWO MULES.

Frank Johnson Says Arthur Collium is Hiding His Property Worth $200.

Frank Johnson began suit today to recover property valued at $200 from Arthur Collium. The property in controversy consists of a black gelding mule valued at $75; a black mare mule valued at $75; a load of corn, a set of harness and a lumber wagon altogether valued at $50 more. He says he is entitled to them under a chattel mortgage but that Collium wrongfully detains them.

A NEW REGISTER.

Clerk C. L. Wood of the National Has a New Kind Copyrighted.

Charles L. Wood, day clerk at the National hotel, has copyrighted a new hotel daily record which he considers the most complete on the market.

"In my twelve years' experience in hotels," he said today, "I have found the necessity of something of this sort. I have never been able to find a daily record that met my requirements, so I made this one of my own. It has been copyrighted and I may put it on the market if Hall & O'Donald don't charge me too much money."

The record is arranged for a 100-room house, and besides having a column for almost any exigency, is arranged so that there is a daily statement of table and room account, stock account, bills payable and receivable, house count, bank statement and trial balance. At the end of a day's business one can tell at a glance every detail of the day's transaction. The National has been using one for several months.

Miss Dennison, vocal teacher, and Miss Ingalls, instrumental teacher, will assist Professor Palmer in his elocutionary recital Wednesday evening.

Professor Palmer's dates for this week are as follows: Washburn college chapel, Wednesday night; Alma, Friday; and Maple Hill, Saturday night.

The Doane-T. A. A. football game, around the college boys and they say they are going to put up as strong a game as either side of these teams did.

At the meeting of the Washburn club President-elect Professor H. M. Frank opened the programme with a few well chosen introductory remarks. Professor J. T. Lovewell of the department of physics read a paper entitled "A Month at Chicago University," which described the buildings, campus and surroundings, and features of the summer session of the University of Chicago. In the discussion which followed President Lovewell explained the peculiar characteristics of the faculty and of the methods employed there. Professor W. A. Griffith of the art department then read a paper on "American Art and Artists," which was made very interesting by the numerous illustrations loaned by Judge Adams. Mrs. Whittemore followed with a description of the New York Art Museum. Professor Griffith and T. K. Hammers were received as members.

20,000 Cattle Quarantined.

The Kansas Live Stock sanitary commission has commenced four criminal suits against stock shippers for violating the quarantine laws of the state. There are now 20,000 head of California cattle in Chase county, under quarantine which were shipped into the state in August and have since been under the regulations of the law. The live stock commissioners are now holding a meeting at their rooms in the state house.

The Kindergarten training school now has sixteen future kindergarten teachers under Mrs. Gregory's care. As there are several others desiring the training, it has been decided to accept new pupils until November 1, and the missing lessons will be made up to those pupils who were unable to begin with the opening of the term. There is a demand for kindergarten teachers, not only for additional schools in Topeka, but for towns outside.
